The experience of designing and implementing NAMAs in developing countries is rapidly growing as countries get a better understanding of the concept. NAMAs are recognized as an effective vehicle for translating mitigation opportunities in developing countries into concrete implementation of Low Carbon Development strategies as well as a tool to redirect finances towards low carbon development.

This side event brings together countries from the three regions of Asia, Africa and Latin America to share the experience of NAMA development in energy, waste, transportation and industrial sector. It is also an opportunity for donors and international private sector to explore possibilities of partnership with countries in implementing these projects.

The event is organized by UNEP DTU Partnership in collaboration with Kingdom of Morocco, Socialist Republic of Vietnam, United Mexican States, and Federal Democratic Republic of Ethiopia.
